

Guide to Serving Farmworkers in the Commonwealth of Virginia

2002-2004 Edition

Compiled by Telamon Corporation -
Richmond, VA

Introduction

Farmworkers, despite the general increase in our nation's prosperity, continue to comprise one of the most disadvantaged populations. Statistics show that most farmworkers earn annual incomes below the federal poverty level and half earn below $7,500 per year. Many suffer from poor health, aggravated by poor diet, inadequate health care, poor living conditions, and exposure to pesticides.

Although many fit eligibility profiles for programs like Medicaid and Nutritional Assistance, very few secure these benefits. While migrant health clinics provide care, existing centers have the capacity to serve fewer than 20% of the nation's farmworkers.

It is hoped that this resource guide will assist people working to help farmworkers access the resources available to them. Some offer support in response to specific needs and others work to increase farmworkers' economic viability. All play an equally important role in promoting a more improved quality of life for Virginia's farmworkers.

Considering that most of the fruits and vegetables produced in this country were hand harvested and/or cultivated, it is important that we recognize the immense contribution that farmworkers make to our country.

The organizations listed in our guide are to be commended for their efforts on behalf of farmworkers, truly the poorest of America's working poor.

As always, this resource guide is a work in progress. It will change as organizations and contact people change. If you have any changes, additions, or deletions for our guide, please feel free to contact Cecily Rodriguez at 1.800.285.1676. We hope that you find it useful in your work with Virginia's farmworkers.

Health Services

Virginia Department of Health

The Department of Health is funded with state and local monies, which provide residents of local counties with preventive health care and environmental protection. A wide range of services are offered, including family planning, V.D. treatment, immunization, tuberculosis testing and care, home health, crippled children, the Women, Infants and Children Feeding Program (WIC), well-baby clinic, and chest x-rays. Anyone is eligible for services. Fees are on a sliding scale based on ability to pay. The Virginia Department of Health website is located at www.vdh.state.va.us

For more information, please contact your local Health Department:

Community Health Organizations

In many areas of the state, there are independent health organizations that are useful for migrant and seasonal farmworkers and other disadvantaged persons. These particular health organizations have been noted because they either offer direct service to farmworkers, they offer services in Spanish, or they serve as a resource for service providers who work with farmworkers.

- Facilitates farmworkers' access to quality health care and social services.
- Delivers linguistically and culturally responsive health care to farmworkers.
- Designs and implements health education methodologies and resources, which are always pilot tested with farmworker patients.

Virginia Free Clinics

A Free Clinic is a private, nonprofit, community-based organization that provides medical care at little or no charge to low-income, uninsured and underinsured persons through the use of volunteer health care professionals and partnerships with other health providers. Virginia has 37 Free Clinics, more free medical clinics than any state in the country.

Most Free Clinics are community based, private, nonprofit, volunteer-driven, target low-income, uninsured and underinsured adults, have little or no charge, and agree in the importance of compassionate care.

Educational Resources

Virginia Department of Education Migrant Education Program

The purpose of the Migrant Education Program is to support high-quality and comprehensive educational programs that provide migratory children with the same opportunity to meet challenging State academic content and student achievement standards that are expected of all children. All services provided are designed to help migratory children overcome the challenges of mobility, limited English proficiency, and other difficulties associated with a migratory lifestyle, in order to succeed in school.

Social Services

Telamon Corporation - Virginia

Telamon Corporation is a private non-profit organization dedicated to the economic upgrading of migrant and seasonal farmworkers and other rural populations throughout the Commonwealth of Virginia. Our website is www.telamon.org.

NATIONAL FARMWORKER JOBS PROGRAM

Services provided to eligible farmworkers are designed to offer training and enhanced employment opportunities, both in and out of agriculture, and to provide stabilizing supportive services that enable farmworkers to remain in farmwork if they so desire. These include:

- GENERAL SERVICES –Outreach, intake, assessment, information, and referral
- EDUCATIONAL/OCCUPATIONAL SERVICES –, Employability development planning, counseling, pre-employment training, job development and placement, and follow-up.
- TRAINING/SKILL DEVELOPMENT –Classroom training, general education development, on-the-job training, work experience
- SUPPORTIVE SERVICES – Emergency assistance, transportation, childcare, relocation, shelter, food, medical care, etc., when other sources are not available.
- REFERRAL SERVICES –Food closets, food stamp referrals, health agencies, social service agencies, and other appropriate organizations.

There are no fees for services provided. Eligibility for participation in NFJP programs is limited to those individuals and dependents of individuals who have, during any consecutive 12-month period within the 24-month period preceding their application for enrollment and have:

- Been a seasonal farmworker or migrant farmworker and
- Received at least 50% of their total earned income or been employed at least 50% of their total work time in farm work and
- Been identified as a member of a family that received public assistance or whose family income does not exceed the higher level of either the poverty level or 70% of the lower living standard income level.
- Participation is opened to citizens and nationals of the United States, lawfully admitted permanent resident aliens, lawfully admitted refugees and parolees, and other individuals authorized by the Attorney General to work in the United States.
- Eighteen-year-old males born after January 1, 1960 must provide evidence of registration with the Selective Service.

HOUSING PROGRAMS

These programs are designed to provide home ownership opportunities and home repair activities to low and very low-income families in South Central Virginia. Farm labor housing development is currently being undertaken in the Northern Neck area of the state. Housing activities are carried out in three main areas: Repair and Rehabilitation, Home Ownership and Counseling, and farm labor housing development. Programs include: Weatherization, Indoor Plumbing and Repair, LIHEAP, Self-Help Housing, CHDO, Regional Loan Fund, and referrals to other agencies. Eligibility varies depending on the type of housing program.

FARMWORKER YOUTH PROGRAM

There are five main goals in providing services to farmworker youth. They are:

- To effect the continuation of high school attendance among all participants who will have not completed grade 12 by the close of this two-year program of services. Secondly, achievement of this goal would significantly decrease the dropout rates among this population and increase the incidence of secondary school graduation.
- To increase reading and math skills of in-school youth.
- To advance the social and cognitive development, leadership strengths, interpersonal relationships, etc. – qualities that will serve them well as they enter and move through the labor market.
- To maximize labor market competitiveness among out-of-school youth participants through educational credential alternatives or occupational skills training for placement into employment
- To change the vision of the future among MSFW youth participants, from one of few narrowly defined options to an expansive view of opportunities, both employment and non-employment related, that are available to them.

Telamon utilizes a variety of activities to achieve these goals such as: tutoring, summer youth employment opportunities, leadership, interpersonal, and life skills, adult mentoring, job shadowing, community service, work experience/internships, comprehensive guidance counseling/case management, alternative secondary education, occupational skills training, remedial/G.E.D. preparation, career planning, professional referrals, and supportive services

Currently, this program is available in South Boston, Belle Haven, and Waynesboro.

PESTICIDE SAFETY TRAINING - S.A.F.E. PROGRAM

With assistance from the Association of Farmworker Opportunity Programs, the Environmental Protection Agency, and the Virginia Department of Agriculture – Office of Pesticide Services, Telamon provides interactive, bilingual pesticide safety training to farmworkers, children, and community members. The AmeriCorps members are certified to distribute EPA cards to help growers meet federal requirements related to pesticide safety. This program is currently offered in Belle Haven and out of the Westmoreland County Extension Agency.

Depending on funding sources, we offer a variety of other programs, not just intended for farmworkers and their families, but the larger rural community. For more information about all the programs offered in a certain local office, call that office directly or contact the state office in Richmond.

Application for services should be made by personal contact, telephone, or correspondence directed to the nearest office, listed below. Hours are 8:00 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., Monday through Friday. Hours may vary in some offices depending on need, and some services may not be available in all offices.

Commonwealth of Virginia - Department of Social Services

The Department of Social Services provides assistance to U. S. citizens or aliens lawfully admitted to the United States with permanent resident status. Children born in the United States to parents who are not legally present may also be eligible.

TANF (Temporary Assistance for Needy Families) is the cash assistance component, which helps families work toward their goal of total independence. The work component of VIP requires recipients of TANF to work in exchange for their public temporary assistance check. The Virginia Department of Social Services is responsible for the management and implementation of these programs and initiatives, as well as eight other public assistance programs including food stamps and Medicaid. These programs are administered by 122 local social services agencies that serve the citizens throughout Virginia.

- The main objective is to enable low-income people to rise above and conquer their poverty situations through temporary assistance, education, and follow-up. Outreach provides information and referral, crisis intervention, emergency transportation, expedition of services, and limited direct services. A food and clothing bank is maintained through community donations in each county. Each county administers an emergency fund supported entirely from donations. Small amounts of assistance with medicine, medical bills, transportation, household bills, food, clothing, fuel, and household goods are given to needy people. In Smyth County, the Ministerial Association, other organizations, and interested individuals have joined resources and asked Mtn. CAP to administer the funds. Churches, the police, and others refer needy individuals and transients for assistance.

Roman Catholic Diocese of Richmond Catholic Migrant Ministry

The Catholic Diocese of Richmond sponsors Catholic migrant ministry outreach in various areas of the Diocese to provide pastoral ministry to Catholic migrant farmworkers of any national origin in Virginia's Southside, and Eastern Shore. Masses, sacramental preparation, prayer services, religious education, entertainment, visitation of housing areas, jails and hospitals are provided, as well as, the same in cooperation with other agencies. While our primary concern is for the spiritual and religious needs of the Catholic migrant laborer, we are concerned about the whole person and therefore, do not ignore their other needs, nor are any migrants of which ever religious faith excluded from our concern and services.

The Catholic Diocese of Richmond's website is located at www.richmonddiocese.org.

Traveler's Aid Society

Travelers Aid International is the association of Travelers Aid programs in the United States and Puerto Rico. Travelers Aid International's member agencies serve individuals and families in crisis due to homelessness, mobility, or other disruptive circumstances. In 2001, Travelers Aid International member agencies assisted more than 4 million people. In depth services including housing, transportation assistance and casework were provided to more than 200,000.

Travelers Aid counters are found at airports, railroad terminals, and bus stations around the U.S. These centers function as local information booths, helping people to get where they're going or to find a bed for the night. Last year the centers provided aid for more than a million people. They also gave substantial short-term assistance for more than 50,000 folks in dire need, half of whom were homeless or unemployed. The Traveler's Aid program "Kidscall" lets runaways in trouble phone home for free. And if they dial 1-800-TO-BE-SAFE, they'll be connected to someone who can provide immediate help.

Traveler's Aid chapters are staffed by volunteers and independently funded, usually through local contributions. If you'd more like information about giving or getting help from Traveler's Aid, call your local chapter or the national office in Washington, D.C.

ELIGIBILITY CRITERIA: The problem must be related to or the result of mobility away from home.

Delmarva Poultry Justice Alliance

The Delmarva Poultry Justice Alliance is an alliance of people and organizations that live in and around the poultry industry working together for justice within the industry. Their mission is to create awareness surrounding issues in the poultry industry. The principle focus of their campaign is set out in the following statements.

- They argue that poultry workers have produced the product and sales that have brought an explosion of profits to the owners and corporate managers of the industry.
- In 10 years, sales of poultry products have increased almost 400 percent and profits have risen 325 percent to $2.1 billion a year.
- By 1995, poultry workers could no longer earn enough wages to meet the government-defined poverty line.
- Wages for poultry workers averaged a little more than $7 an hour in 1995, 60 percent less than the average wage for manufacturing workers despite the greater effort and health risk assumed by poultry workers.
- While the demand for the product has soared, Real return to the farmers has dropped. In 1995, research indicated that over 73 percent of farmers earned a below poverty level income from their poultry operations.
- While the industry has grown and prospered, communities have paid the price. Low wage, high turnover jobs cannot support stable families and sustainable communities.

- The industry exploits new immigrant workers, as well as native-born families and communities in order to maintain low wages. Our communities can only be strengthened when the industry provides a decent standard of living for all.

Chapter Five

Employment and Training Services

Telamon Corporation - Virginia

Telamon Corporation is a private non-profit organization dedicated to the economic upgrading of migrant and seasonal farmworkers and other rural populations throughout the Commonwealth of Virginia.

NATIONAL FARMWORKER JOBS PROGRAM

Services provided to eligible farmworkers are designed to offer training and enhanced employment opportunities, both in and out of agriculture, and to provide stabilizing supportive services that enable farmworkers to remain in farmwork if they so desire. These include:

- GENERAL SERVICES -Outreach, intake, assessment, information, and referral
- EDUCATIONAL/OCCUPATIONAL SERVICES -, Employability development planning, counseling, pre-employment training, job development and placement, and follow-up.
- TRAINING/SKILL DEVELOPMENT -Classroom training, general education development, on-the-job training, work experience
- SUPPORTIVE SERVICES - Emergency assistance, transportation, childcare, relocation, shelter, food, medical care, etc., when other sources are not available.
- REFERRAL SERVICES -Food closets, food stamp referrals, health agencies, social service agencies, and other appropriate organizations.

There are no fees for services provided. Eligibility for participation in NFJP programs is limited to those individuals and dependents of individuals who have, during any consecutive 12-month period within the 24-month period preceding their application for enrollment and have:

- Been a seasonal farmworker or migrant farmworker and
- Received at least 50% of their total earned income or been employed at least 50% of their total work time in farm work and
- Been identified as a member of a family that received public assistance or whose family income does not exceed the higher level of either the poverty level or 70% of the lower living standard income level.
- Participation is opened to citizens and nationals of the United States, lawfully admitted permanent resident aliens, lawfully admitted refugees and parolees, and other individuals authorized by the Attorney General to work in the United States.
- Eighteen-year-old males born after January 1, 1960 must provide evidence of registration with the Selective Service.

HOUSING PROGRAMS

These programs are designed to provide home ownership opportunities and home repair activities to low and very low-income families in South Central Virginia. Farm labor housing development is currently being undertaken in the Northern Neck area of the state. Housing activities are carried out in three main areas: Repair and Rehabilitation, Home Ownership and Counseling, and farm labor housing development. Programs include: Weatherization, Indoor Plumbing and Repair, LIHEAP, Self-Help Housing, CHDO,

Regional Loan Fund, and referrals to other agencies. Eligibility varies depending on the type of housing program.

FARMWORKER YOUTH PROGRAM

There are five main goals in providing services to farmworker youth. They are:

- To effect the continuation of high school attendance among all participants who will have not completed grade 12 by the close of this two-year program of services. Secondly, achievement of this goal would significantly decrease the dropout rates among this population and increase the incidence of secondary school graduation.
- To increase reading and math skills of in-school youth.
- To advance the social and cognitive development, leadership strengths, interpersonal relationships, etc. – qualities that will serve them well as they enter and move through the labor market.
- To maximize labor market competitiveness among out-of-school youth participants through educational credential alternatives or occupational skills training for placement into employment
- To change the vision of the future among MSFW youth participants, from one of few narrowly defined options to an expansive view of opportunities, both employment and non-employment related, that are available to them.

Telamon utilizes a variety of activities to achieve these goals such as: tutoring, summer youth employment opportunities, leadership, interpersonal, and life skills, adult mentoring, job shadowing, community service, work experience/internships, comprehensive guidance counseling/case management, alternative secondary education, occupational skills training, remedial/G.E.D. preparation, career planning, professional referrals, and supportive services

Currently, this program is available in South Boston, Belle Haven, and Waynesboro.

PESTICIDE SAFETY TRAINING - S.A.F.E. PROGRAM

With assistance from the Association of Farmworker Opportunity Programs, the Environmental Protection Agency, and the Virginia Department of Agriculture – Office of Pesticide Services, Telamon provides interactive, bilingual pesticide safety training to farmworkers, children, and community members. The AmeriCorps members are certified to distribute EPA cards to help growers meet federal requirements related to pesticide safety. This program is currently offered in Belle Haven and out of the Westmoreland County Extension Agency.

Application for services should be made by personal contact, telephone, or correspondence directed to the nearest office, listed below. Hours are 8:00 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., Monday through Friday. Hours may vary in some offices depending on need, and some services may not be available in all offices.

U. S. Department of Labor -Wage & Hour Division

The Wage and Hour mission is to achieve compliance with labor standards through enforcement, administrative, and educational programs to protect the Nation's workers. The WHD enforces Federal minimum wage, overtime pay, record keeping, and child labor requirements of the Fair Labor Standards Act. WHD also enforces the Migrant and Seasonal Agricultural Worker Protection Act, the Employee Polygraph Protection Act, the Family and Medical Leave Act, wage garnishment provisions of the Consumer Credit Protection Act, "whistleblower" provisions of several environmental impact laws, and a number of employment standards and worker protections as provided in several immigration related statutes. Additionally, WHD administers and enforces the prevailing wage requirements of the Davis Bacon Act and the Service Contract Act and other statutes applicable to Federal contracts for construction and for the provision of goods and services.

The U. S. Department of Labor's Wage and Hour Division receives and reviews applications for crew leader certificates and issues certificates to applicants meeting the requirements. In the State of Virginia applications are filed with the Farm Placement Specialist of the Virginia Employment Commission. This agency can investigate complaints and take action against crew leaders, their assistants, and farm operators found to be violating the law.

Investigations can be made concerning the employment of children, and action may be taken to prevent employers from unlawfully using child labor through this agency.

The U.S. Department of Labor enforces the Fair Labor Standards Act (FLSA), which sets basic minimum wage and overtime pay standards. These standards are enforced by the Department's Wage and Hour Division, a program of the Employment Standards Administration.

Workers who are covered by the FLSA are entitled to a minimum wage of not less than $5.15 an hour. Overtime pay at a rate of not less than one and one-half times their regular rate of pay is required after 40 hours of work in a workweek. Certain exemptions apply to specific types of businesses or specific types of work.

The FLSA does not, however, require severance pay, sick leave, vacations, or holidays.

In addition to the FLSA, the Wage and Hour Division enforces other labor laws related to wage payment. Among these are:

- ◊ the Davis-Bacon and Related Acts, which require payment of prevailing wage rates and fringe benefits on federally-financed or assisted construction;
- ◊ the Service Contract Act, which requires payment of prevailing wage rates and fringe benefits on contracts to provide services to the federal government;
- ◊ the Contract Work Hours and Safety Standards Act, which sets overtime standards for most federal service contracts, federally funded construction contracts, and federal supply contracts over $100,000; and
- ◊ the Walsh-Healey Public Contracts Act, which requires payment of minimum wage rates and overtime pay on federal contracts to manufacture or provide goods to the federal government.

The Family and Medical Leave Act (FMLA) provides for up to 12 weeks of unpaid leave for certain medical and family situations (e.g., adoption) for either the employee or a member of the covered and eligible employee's immediate family; however, in many instances paid leave may be substituted for unpaid FMLA leave.

The Immigration Act of 1990 applies to employers seeking to hire nonimmigrant aliens as workers in specialty occupations under H-1B visas.

Virginia Department of Rehabilitative Services

The Virginia Department of Rehabilitative Services serves those disabled residents of Virginia (migrant and seasonal farmworkers and their families are eligible regardless of residence and nationality providing they meet eligibility standards) who are vocationally handicapped by placing them in suitable employment. This is accomplished by physical restoration, vocational training, guidance and counseling, and other vocational rehabilitation services.

Service Eligibility: There must be a presence of a physical or mental disability that is a handicap to employment, and a reasonable expectation that following vocational, rehabilitation services the individual can be suitably employed. The handicapped individual must fall below DRS financial standards, and a personal interview by referral and receipt of pertinent medical documentation are needed. There are no fees involved for these services. DRS is not involved with acute emergencies.

Hours for the following office locations are 8:15 a.m. to 5:00 p.m., Monday through Friday.

The Department of Rehabilitative Services is located on the World Wide Web at www.vadrs.org

Delmarva Rural Ministries
26 Wyoming Avenue
Dover, DE 19904
(302)678-3652

One of the nation's largest nonprofit developers of safe, decent and affordable rental housing for farm workers. In addition to the two housing communities established previously--the James E. Leonard Apartments in Salisbury, Maryland and the Elizabeth Cornish Landing Apartments in Bridgeville, Delaware--the William Hughes Apartments in Eastville, Virginia are now providing an additional 34 apartments for farm workers in Northhampton County, VA.

In early 1999, DRM added a Housing Development Specialist to its staff to coordinate the ongoing—and growing – activities and achievements of its Housing and Community Development program. With the assistance of generous start-up funding from the Delaware Housing Capacity Building Program, Chase Manhattan Bank, Laffey-McHugh, and the Crestlea Foundation, this specialist guides the development of new housing and housing services for Delmarva's farm workers.

Virginia Workforce Investment Boards

The Workforce Investment Act of 1998 (H.R.1385) rewrites current federal statutes governing programs of job training, adult education and literacy, and vocational rehabilitation, replacing them with streamlined and more flexible components of workforce development systems.

You can contact these boards if you are interested in finding out who runs the adult and dislocated worker, youth, and unemployment compensation programs in your area.

Migrant and Seasonal Farmworkers Board

Virginia has both a Governor's Migrant and Seasonal Farmworkers Advisory Board and an Interagency Migrant Worker Policy Committee, and DOLI provides staff support to both, with the Commissioner serving as Committee Chair. In concert with the Board, the Committee reviews, coordinates, evaluates and addresses issues regarding the approximately 18,000 migrant and seasonal farmworkers who help tend Virginia's crops each year. The Board, comprised of 15 Gubernatorial appointees, meets quarterly. The Committee, made up of representatives of 17 state agencies (Agriculture; Alcoholic Beverage Control; Business Assistance; Education; Environmental Quality; Health; Housing and Community Development; Labor and Industry; Information Technology; Medical Assistance Services; Mental Health; Motor Vehicles; Rehabilitative Services; Social Services; the Virginia Employment Commission, the Workers' Compensation Commission, and the Cooperative Extension Service), also usually meets on a quarterly basis. The Committee provides an annual report to the Governor on activities undertaken, including recommendations; the Board provides a report to the Governor and General Assembly on a biennial basis. Important initiatives recently completed include a statewide needs assessment for construction and rehabilitation of migrant and seasonal farmworker housing (report available) and a statewide study of the economic impact and current employment situation of migrant and seasonal and H2-A farmworkers in Virginia (report available).

The current membership of the Migrant and Seasonal Farmworkers Board consists of

Chapter Seven

Farmworker Labor Camps

Farmworker Labor Camps

If migrant farmworkers are to receive their fair share of available social services, it is imperative that agencies provide adequate outreach to farm labor camps. The fact cannot be overemphasized that while migrants are highly mobile from state-to-state, they often find themselves stranded at isolated camps with no available transportation, aside from occasional trips to the stores in vehicles owned by the crew leaders. Many migrants simply do not have access to dependable transportation to reach those agencies that offer medical, legal and emergency assistance.

The following section provides a list of some of the larger and more well-known labor camps in Virginia. The Office of Environmental Health Services at the Virginia Department of Health compiled this list. It is the hope of Telamon Corporation that outreach workers make an effort to visit these camps. However, this list is only the "tip of the iceberg." many migrants live in houses or camps that have not been inspected by the appropriate state and federal agencies. Frequently migrants have no housing at all and must live out of cars for days and even weeks at a time.

The list of labor camps provided should be used as a point for departure for providing outreach to the migrants in Virginia. With a bit of incentive and inquisitiveness, it should be possible to ferret out many other locations throughout Virginia where migrants are housed. We welcome any additional information you may uncover with respect to migrant housing for future editions of this Guide.
